

White House Gives Nixon New Support

Receives Warm Greeting at Ike's Return

Dump-Nixon Campaign By Stassen Touches Off GOP Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House renewed its support of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for renomination today in the face of a dump-Nixon campaign launched by presidential assistant Harold E. Stassen.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen shortly before 11 a. m. EDT that he is standing firm on his previous prediction that Nixon will be renominated as Mr. Eisenhower's running mate when the GOP convention meets in San Francisco Aug. 20.

President Eisenhower himself, on his return from Panama early this morning, went out of his way to give a warm, cordial greeting to Nixon. For Stassen, who was also in the welcoming crowd at the airport, the President had only a brief, perfunctory handshake and a "Hello."

Stassen threw a bombshell into the GOP political campaign late Monday by announcing he will fight to get the vice presidential nomination for Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts instead of Nixon.

Firm Nixon Prediction

The announcement touched off a whirlwind of opposition from top Republican leaders. Newsmen besieged Hagerty for official White House reaction.

Hagerty was reminded that he said recently at Gettysburg, Pa., that he has no doubt Nixon will be renominated.

Hagerty refused to say anything further on the political squabble rocking the President's official family. He simply referred newsmen to a statement he made in Panama City Monday.

Hagerty said then that the President had told Stassen he could make "any statement" he wished as an individual but that he could not endorse Herter "as a member of the President's official family."

This spurred speculation that Stassen would be fired as Mr. Eisenhower's Cabinet-level disarmament adviser. But Stassen himself told newsmen today that he expects to continue in his administration post. He said he had endorsed Herter as an individual Republican and out of "loyalty" to Mr. Eisenhower.

GOP Denounces Move

Stassen said he favored Herter over Nixon because public opinion polls showed that an Eisenhower-Herter ticket would be 6 per cent stronger than an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket, and this difference could be decisive for GOP victory in close states.

Almost to a man, the high officials of the Republican Party roundly denounced Stassen's move. Twenty GOP members of the House demanded his resignation.

Democrats seized on the situation as evidence of an open break in the Republican Party only four weeks before the GOP convention opens in San Francisco. Adlai E. Stevenson said it was "new evidence of the deep and long-standing split within the Republican Party."

Investigators Tell of Frantic Efforts To Cover Up Shortage in Hodge Funds

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Investigators told today of frantic efforts made less than three weeks ago to cover up an apparent $528,880 shortage in one of former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge's funds.

The fund in question is made up of unclaimed deposits from banks which have been closed. A federal indictment returned Saturday charged Hodge dipped into the fund and misapplied $356,000.

However, Albert E. Jenner of Chicago and John S. Rendleman of Carbondale, special attorneys for the Illinois Budgetary Commission, said their investigation indicated at least $528,880 was misapplied. Rendleman explained that on July 5 and 6, $528,880 was deposited to the fund in an apparent effort to juggle books and cover up a shortage. He reasoned that the money would not have been restored, unless that much had been misapplied in the beginning.

The federal indictment against Hodge charged that he had part of the unclaimed bank deposit fund transferred from the Springfield Marine Bank to the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, where it was made available to him and his wife, Margaret.

Rendleman and Jenner said their investigation indicated that while the fund was more than $800,000 when Hodge took office in 1953, it later reached a low of $36,038.

The lawyers said big deposits were made to the fund in the Southmoor banks on July 5 and 6. That was after the Hodge check scandal had broken, but before all of its ramifications were known.

The attorneys said a total of $420,000 in cash and checks was deposited to the fund July 5, and the next day there was a deposit of $108,880.

These deposits included two checks totaling $335,000 drawn on the account of the Hodge agency at the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank. The Hodge agency is operated by the former auditor.

Take Steps to Keep Gangsters Out of Illinois Road Program

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — Federal attorneys in Illinois are taking steps to keep gangsters from moving in on the state's multi-million dollar highway building program.

U. S. Atty. Clifford Raemer of East St. Louis said today he will join with U. S. Atty. Robert Ticken of Chicago and John B. Stoddard Jr. of Springfield in an effort to insure honest use of federal money in the construction program.

The federal government will pour some $9 million dollars a year into Illinois for highways. Raemer said Ticken and Stoddard discussed the attempts of gangsters to infiltrate the program recently at a conference in Washington. Raemer said he is joining in their efforts.

Ticken said he has received information that a new group of Capone syndicate gangsters is seeking to revive defunct contracting firms to obtain lucrative road construction contracts.

Stoddard said the federal government can protect its interest in the construction program through anti-racketeering or anti-trust prosecution.

The federal grand jury at Danville has been investigating charges of collusive bidding by Illinois contractors of highway contracts. The inquiry, begun last April, called 68 witnesses, including officers of the Illinois Contractors Institute of Chicago. The inquiry is now in recess.

Eldorado Youths Critically Hurt In Auto Accident

Two Eldorado youths are reported in critical condition today suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident Monday shortly after noon near the intersection of Routes 1 and 13.

Six young men—five from Eldorado and one from East St. Louis—were in an automobile that left the road and cracked into a tree when the driver lost control of the car. They were returning to Eldorado from a swimming trip to Pounds Hollow.

The seriously injured are Dwain Pinnell, driver of the automobile, and Gordon Donley.

Charles Stout of Eldorado and Larry Burtz of East St. Louis each received a broken leg, it is reported.

The other two, Leo Caps and Bob Turner, have been released from the Ferrell hospital, Eldorado, where all six were taken in an ambulance from the Cox funeral home of Ridgway following the accident.

Service Station Held Up at McLeansboro

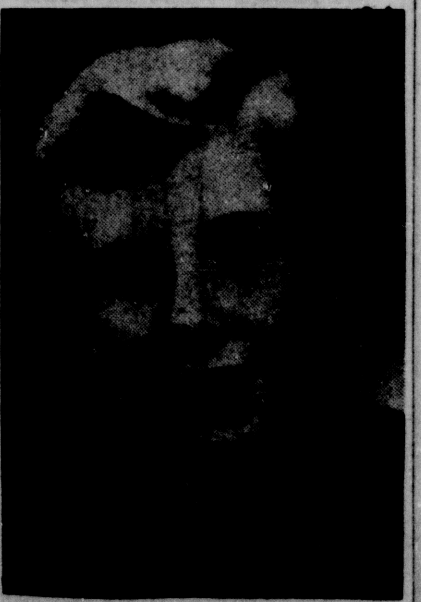

The Wagner service station at McLeansboro was held up about 5:45 p. m. yesterday by two armed bandits, who carried off a cash register containing about $70. The bandits headed toward Mt. Vernon on U. S. Route 460, it was reported.

Jury Returns 46 Indictments Against Hodge

Chauffeur Tells Of Trips to Bank By Ex-Auditor's Aide

BULLETIN
SPRINGFIELD (AP) — State's Atty. George P. Cotronak today announced 46 indictments have been returned against ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge's chauffeur said today he drove Howard A. Epping, a principal in the million dollar scandal in Hodge's office, to the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, "three, four or five times."

The chauffeur, Victor Struppa, talked to newsmen as he waited to testify before a grand jury which is expected to report in midafternoon on 46 embezzlement charges prepared against Hodge.

A Southmoor bank attorney has named Epping as the "messenger" who delivered and cashed a number of phony state checks involved in the scandal at the bank.

Epping and Edward A. Hintz, resigned president of the bank, are free under $25,000 bonds on charges of conspiracy to defraud the state in connection with the checks.

The chauffeur said the only time he ever drove Hodge personally to the bank was one occasion when the ex-auditor went there to meet Hintz, who was to accompany him on a hunting trip.

Struppa, who drove for Hodge from 1952 until July 16 when Hodge resigned his office, now drives for Hodge's successor, Lloyd Morey.

Struppa said "I'm as surprised as you guys" at the scandal in Hodge's office.

At Chicago, P. S. Dist. Atty. Robert Ticken said that indictments returned by a federal grand jury Saturday and involving charges of misapplication of about $875,000 in federally insured bank funds "by means" embraced all the checks involved in the case.

Baker Discusses Gideon Bible Program at Rotary

A talk on the distribution of Gideon Bibles was made at the Rotary meeting Monday at noon by Paul Baker.

Mr. Baker was introduced by Bill Stain, program chairman, and he began his talk by showing the different kinds of Bibles which are placed in public places and given to boys leaving for military service. He expressed the belief that there is less delinquency among young people who have received and read these Bibles. Mr. Baker said that there are times the word of God has not been in homes until children have taken the Gideon Bible home with them. He said the only way to reach all of the youth of the nation is in the classrooms of the schools, where the Bible should be placed and read. The Gideon Bibles are given free of charge and are paid for by donations from the public.

Dr. B. E. Montgomery gave a report of the blood donations, which he said were below the quota set for the county. He said that organizations and clubs in Harrisburg should ask each member, who is under the age limit and healthy, to give blood. A large number of members from the Rotary club have promised to give blood.

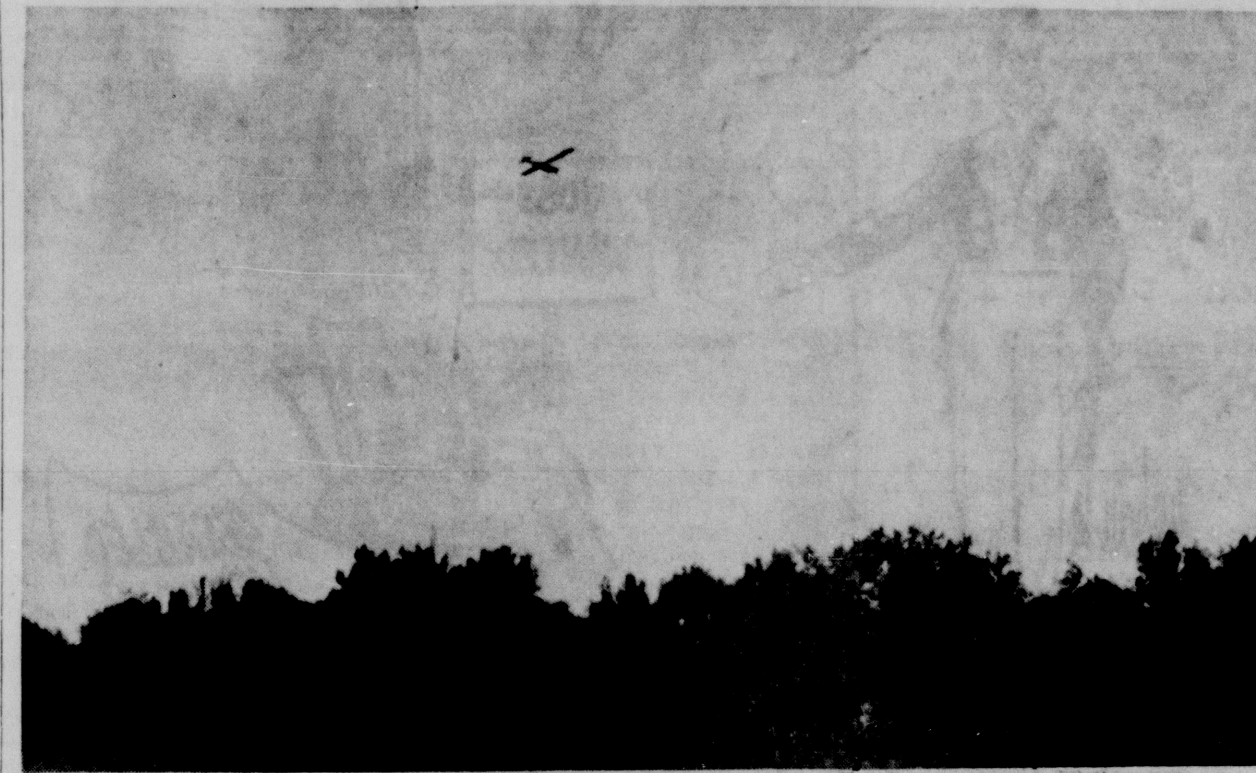

The Rotary club expects to give the Kiwanis several surprises in the annual baseball game to be played Wednesday night. "With our pitching ace, Pete Gardner, and our air tight infield, we think that we can stop the big guns of the Kiwanis," President Lowden Pankey says. "The Kiwanis should be cautious of our hitters as we have several that can knock that ball a country mile," he said.

Youth Held for Slaying Policeman

McCOOK, Ill. (AP) — A 17-year-old youth was held without charge here today following his capture late Monday night in the slaying of a policeman with his own gun.

The officers searched the wooded area, about two miles long and a half a mile thick, for about an hour and a half.

GI Bill for Most War II Veterans Dies Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The GI Bill of Rights, which sent 2,200,000 ex-GIs to college and trained another 5,600,000 in various vocations, dies Wednesday for all but a handful of World War II veterans.

The only veterans who will be allowed to continue training under the program will be those who enlisted in 1945-56 under the Voluntary Recruitment Act and hardship cases of disabled ex-GIs.

Veterans of the Korean War, both able and disabled, will continue school and vocational training for several years under other laws.

After Wednesday the sole right remaining to veterans under the 12-year-old GI Bill of Rights will be under the home and business loan provision. This provision was scheduled to expire July 25, 1957, but Congress completed action Monday on a bill to extend it to July 25, 1958.

The education program saw a peak of 2,500,000 veterans taking some kind of training during 1947. Only a few thousand are training today.

The program cost $14,500,000. But a VA spokesman said it will be well repaid in the form of new skills and increased taxes from the higher incomes made possible by the program.

The average income of veterans who trained under the GI bill is up 51 per cent for the last six years compared with an increase of only 19 per cent for non-veterans. This, of course, means more taxes for the government.

New Car Stolen At Shawneetown

A new 1956 Ford automobile was stolen during the night from the Rich Motor Co., at Shawneetown, Lawrence Rich, Ford agent, reported Monday.

Entrance was gained by breaking a hole in a rear window and unlocking doors. The theft was discovered when Gilbert Drone, a mechanic, arrived on the job. Keys to a soft drink box also were taken but no money was reported missing.

The Porter and Kent Chevrolet garage also was entered, but Edgar Kent, the owner, said nothing was taken.

Mrs. Ruth Stanley, 88, Of Shawneetown, Dies At Home of Daughter

Mrs. Ruth Bell Stanley, 88, life long resident of the Saline Mine Community south of Shawneetown, died Sunday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eva Wilkerson, in Wood River, Ill.

The body has been returned to the Wright funeral home in Shawneetown where services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Stanley cemetery at Saline Mine.

One Auto Taken From Otis Stone Farm Last Night

Sheriff Barrett Says Men Presumably Are Out of Area

Automobiles stolen in the area during the night gave strong indications that the two objects of a big manhunt in Galatia, Raleigh and Brushy townships had broken through the net of officers.

One car, a 1955 tan Chevrolet sedan, was stolen from the Otis Stone farm on the blacktop road southwest of Galatia between midnight and daylight. It was believed the pair took this machine.

The other, a 1950 green Oldsmobile, was stolen from the New York Central yards between Harrisburg and Muddy. It was reported missing by its owner, S. A. Franks of Maunie, a telegrapher employed by the NYC who missed it around 5 a. m. when he completed his shift.

Officers believed the two had stolen the Stone Chevrolet, which was close to the area of operations.

Also, state police received a report that a car bearing the description of Stone's auto, travelling at a very high rate of speed, ran a semi-trailer off a route near Johnston City early today.

Presumably Out of Area

Mrs. Stone this morning said that their car was taken from the driveway at their farm home. The ignition was locked but the doors were not, she said.

Alongside the Stone car was the car of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Stone, visiting here from Tennessee. They had a Chevrolet bought yesterday and just had 13 miles on it. This auto was not bothered.

Sheriff William T. Barrett today said that the two wanted for armed robbery, Bruno Skirmont, 37, and William Bolten, 27, who abandoned their new car at the Jim Garner farm on Route 34 between Raleigh and Galatia, apparently headed west through fields to the Stone farm during the night.

They presumably are out of the area now, he said. He said he was reasonably certain they got away in the Stone car.

Day-Long Search

All day yesterday and all last night state and county officers, with Federal Bureau of Investigation agents joining, searched the countryside and posted automobiles at strategic points.

Patrol cars passed the Stone house three times during the night, it was learned.

At one time yesterday it was believed that the officers had the two trapped in a big woodland south of the Wanda Rann home a mile and a quarter west of Route 34 at the Bishop station intersection. This spot is about two and a half miles south of the Garner home.

An airplane circling the field sent out police radio messages to all patrolling cars to hasten to the spot. Officers with shotguns, rifles and pistols, arriving at the scene around 5 p. m., hunted until about

U. S. to Investigate White County Bridge Commission

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Atty. Clifford M. Raemer's office plans an investigation into the activities of the White County Bridge Commission which operates the Wabash River Bridge between Illinois and New Harmony, Ind.

A general accounting office audit last year discovered that the 25-year-old bridge owned a blue (Cadillac) limousine, five dozen bottles of a once-popular tonic (Hadiol) and an encyclopedia. It also had sent flowers to ailing friends.

Raemer said he wants to learn if the Bridge Commission has made an attempt to "delay or obstruct an act of Congress." If so, the matter will be turned over to a federal grand jury.

The commission was created by an act of Congress but is not of itself a federal agency. Raemer says his investigation will be based on these facts.

The original cost of the bridge was $600,000. In its quarter-century of existence, $3,000,000 in tolls has been collected and tolls are still being collected at 30 cents per round trip.

FAITHFUL CARETAKER:

Off-Honored Morey
Sound Choice for Auditor

(Chicago Daily News)

Although he had nearly achieved the normal age for retirement, Lloyd Morey was called in as actng president to take care of the University of Illinois after President Stoddard was dismissed. He did well, and became the president in the title. He retired last September.

Dr. Morey had served the university 42 years before he became president, for many recent years as comptroller. He was a professor of accounting and the author of texts on the accountability of state governments.

Now he is caretaker for the state auditor's office.

For one part of his job, at least, Lloyd Morey is an ideal choice to serve for the remainder of 1956.
He has no political ambitions and no partisan obligations, since the university has always fared well at the hands of Republican and Democratic administrations and legislatures alike.

It is not the first time Dr. Morey has been called to clean up a financial scandal. Some years ago, the State of Louisiana was confronted with one in the operation of its state university.

The president of Louisiana State University, James Monroe Smith, defrauded the university of some $2 million. He fled to Canada, but was brought back to stand trial and spent seven years in prison.

Dr. Morey was the man called in to straighten out the university's books and business procedures.

It is not surprising that the American Institute of Accounting should have presented him its annual award in 1955 for distinguished service in governmental accounting. In 1956, a similar award came to him from the Municipal Finance Officers of the United States and Canada.

Autos Look Up

While the news continues dark on the steel strike front, reports from automobile dealers indicate that vital industry may be slowly working its way out of the 1956 doldrums.

On May 1 new car stocks in dealers' hands totaled 900,000, a high for the season. But by the end of June they had been cut to 700, 000 and were only a little bit above the level of June, 1955.

The Wall Street Journal check-ed 25 dealers and found all but one expecting to clean out 1956 models before the 1957's come out. More than half said business in June was better than in May, and that month was up over April.

The lining in those summer clouds over Detroit may not be silver yet, but it's beginning to glint a little. Let's hope the trend continues.

"He Has and Will Tackle Anything!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Steel Negotiations Suffer From Absence Of Ben Fairless; Authority Suspected Of Favoring Steel Strike; Ike's Naval Aide Gets Cold Shoulder
On TV Application.

WASHINGTON. — One factor handicapping the steel-strike negotiations is the absence of Ben Fairless, kindly, powerful former head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, who always dominated past wage talks.

Fairless, an orphan raised by an uncle who was a coal miner, was sympathetic to labor. And though he rose to become head of the world's greatest steel company, he was largely responsible for keeping healthy wage increases to steelworkers. He and Dave McDonald, head of the United Steelworkers, were understanding friends.

During the closing days of the steel negotiations just before the strike was called, U. S. Steel still seemed more sympathetic to the union's position than other companies. But there were several roadblocks, as follows:
Roadblock No. 1—The two companies which do most of their business with the automobile companies, Bethlehem and National Steel, were the toughest negotiators. It looked as if they wanted a strike.

This fits in with the word, passed down inside the industry, that Ernie Broech of Ford and Harlow Curcio of General Motors were not at all averse to a steel strike which would give them an excuse for closing down, thus using up the huge car surplus on hand this year as a result of overselling last year.

Roadblock No. 2—With Fairless now on the sidelines, the steel moguls adopted the Boulware technique in their negotiations. This technique, developed by Lem Boulware of General Electric, is a take-it-or-leave-it approach. Industry approaches the conference table and says: "This is it, boys.
This is all you're going to get. The longer you delay, the more you lose, because you won't get retroactivity."

General Electric has been able to get away with this because many of its workers are not unionized. But Westinghouse used this approach and found itself with one of the longest and bitterest strikes in recent years. It still hasn't recovered.

The steel moguls tried the Boulware technique in their recent talks—against the advice of U.
S. Steel's John Stephens — and ended with a strike. The Stephens-Fairless technique has been to work up gradually to terms which seem about right for both sides.

Roadblock No. 3 — Wall Street bankers who have a hand in guiding the steel industry want a five-year contract. They want this in order to figure their tax depreciation writeoffs in financing new plants for the steel industry.
Negotiations were held in New York, incidentally, to be near the bankers, who have the last word.
Labor, on the other hand, doesn't want a five-year contract.

Inside fact is that the steel executives have been much tougher in their negotiations than appeared in the press. On the last night before negotiations broke up in New York, industry leaders met most of the night. Afterward they told newsmen the union was offered a 20-cent package with a three-year agreement. Actually no such offer was ever made. The industry stood pat on its five-year offer.

Note — During all this period, and not until after the strike was called did the Federal mediation service make any overtures toward a settlement.

IKE'S EX-NAVAL AIDE

Probably there had been no man closer to Eisenhower during the years, outside of his brother, than Harry Butcher. Ike's naval aide during the war. They got to know each other before the war when Ike was stationed in Washington and Butcher was working with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Later, when Captain Butcher went abroad with General Eisenhower, their wives waited out the war in the same Wardman Park hotel together. After the war, Butcher wrote a book, "My Three Years With Eisenhower."

Last week, however, Harry Butcher got the brushoff from Ike's appointees on the Federal Communications Commission in what looked like a political move.
He had applied for a TV license in Hartford, Conn. Opposing him was the Travelers Insurance Co.
Butcher has had vast TV-radio experience, now operates Station KEYT in Santa Barbara, Calif.
Travelers operates a radio station in Hartford.

The applications were somewhat complicated, and the FCC could well have found for Butcher, or at least given a split decision. It did not. It was unanimous 6 to 0 against Ike's old friend and naval aide.

The decision had all the earmarks of discrimination against a friend on the ground that a decision for a friend might have boomeranged in an election year.

Note — The FCC hung a deliberate political hooker onto its decision—but in favor of a Democrat. It reserved the right to transfer Hartford's VHF channel 3 to Providence, R. I., where Senator Pastore, Democrat, has a partner in the TV business. Pastore is a member of the Senate subcommittee which has been investigating the FCC.

Fluoridation Praised by U. S. Health Service

WASHINGTON (U.S. Public Health Service) — The U. S. Public Health Service issued a glowing new report today on the "remarkable" ability of fluoridated water to reduce tooth decay.

It said a 10-year study shows that fluoridation in Grand Rapids, Mich., cut the occurrence of children's cavities about 60 per cent. Apparently, even adults developed fewer miseries.

"The scientific evidence is conclusive," the service said, "that water fluoridation is an effective public procedure for producing a substantial reduction in the incidence of dental caries."

Ten Year Test
Grand Rapids began adding fluorine to its water in January, 1945, in a bold experiment in cavity prevention. The results of the test at the end of 10 years were published in the current issue of the health service's "Public Health Reports."

These showed:
—A "striking reduction" in dental cavities in baby or first teeth. The reduction in the case of six-year-olds was about 54 per cent.

—A "marked reduction" in cavities in permanent teeth. Among children born since the experiment began, the cavity rate "was reduced on the average by about 60 per cent."

—No undesirable coloring of the teeth because of contact with the fluorine.

MURDER

By Brett Halliday

Copyright 1956 by Brett Halliday. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: House Detective Patton investigates a report from a woman that a dead man is in room 316 of the Hibiscus hotel. He investigates and finds things in perfect order. Five minutes after the call a woman is running down the alley in terror. Someone is pursuing her.

III

THE headlights of a car on the street behind her picked up her fleeing figure. At the same moment a running man slid to a stop on the sidewalk at the spot where she had fallen. He looked quickly in both directions as the car drew abreast of him, saw her in flight half a block away and started in pursuit.

She looked over her shoulder once, saw the onrushing car and the man just behind her. Her heart was pumping wildly. She realized there was only one possible chance of escape. She whirled off the sidewalk directly in front of the fast-coming headlights, waving her arms frantically above her head, standing resolutely at a point where she would be run down if the driver did not stop.

There was the blat of a horn and the angry scream of brakes. The car lurched to a stop with its bumper inches from the girl's knees.

It was a taxi without the signal lights that would have indicated it was cruising empty. The uniformed driver leaned out angrily to shout at the frightened girl, but she darted around the left headlight to claw open the rear door, gasping, "Please go on—fast. Please, please."

She was inside and slammed the door shut. The driver turned his head to argue with her, but her fist pounded on his shoulder as she sobbed out, "Go on! Before he gets here. Can't you see—?"

The driver could see she was young and beautiful and terrified. He also saw thru the rear window the figure of the running man on the sidewalk behind them. He grunted sourly and threw the taxi in second and stepped on the gas. When the car leaped forward it threw the girl back against the rear cushion. Only at that moment did she become aware of the other passenger in the right-hand corner beside her—a woman, staring at her in complete bewilderment.

"I'm—I'm terribly sorry," choked out the girl. "Please let me ride just a few blocks until I can think what to do. Please don't stop where he can get me."

SHE was addressing both the driver and his passenger impartially, and the driver tossed back over his shoulder curtly, "It's all right with me, lady, long as my fare don't mind."

His original passenger said quietly, "It's all right, of course, driver." She had a young and throaty voice, and spoke as calmly as tho it were the most ordinary thing in the world for her to share her taxi with strangers who came running desperately out of dark alleys, practically gibbering with fright.

"Well, look here, Miss. You want I should find us a cop and report it?"

"Oh, no! I don't think so. Not the police. They're—they won't believe me. They just won't. They'll ask all sorts of questions—" Her voice trailed off miserably.

"What do you wanta do?" asked the driver patiently. "I got this other fare, see?"

"It's perfectly all right driver," the placid young voice said again from the right corner of the rear seat. They were approaching Biscayne Boulevard now, and she suggested, "Just turn toward Flagler, and I'll tell you where to drop me."

"I don't know what I should do," sighed the other girl forlornly. "If I go to the police, they'll say I'm crazy. I'm not, but I can't prove it."

"I betcha can't, sister," muttered the driver under his breath as he swung left onto the Boulevard.

"But somebody's got to help me," she went on desperately. "I'm a stranger in Miami. Perhaps you'd know, driver. Some private detective. An honest one. Who'd listen to me and not think I'm crazy, and help me."

"YOU might try Mike Shayne, Miss. He always seems to be getting himself mixed up in screwy cases."

"Is he—a good detective?"

"Best in Miami. Best in the country, I guess," added the driver with civic pride. "You need somebody to handle that gink was chasing you with no questions asked, Shayne's your man."

"It isn't exactly that. It's—but I can't waste time talking about it," bursts out the girl distractedly. "Would there be any chance of contacting him at night like this?"

"Lady," said the driver, "you picked out just the right cab when you jumped in front of me back there and like to got yourself killed. I always read the write-ups on Shayne's cases in the papers and I know exactly where he hangs out at night."

She said eagerly, "Could you take me there?" Her fingers nervously clutched a black suede handbag in her lap. "I can pay you—I'll be glad to pay."

The driver said, "If the other lady don't really mind—"

"Go right ahead, driver." A crisply amused voice came from the girl's companion. "I honestly haven't decided yet where I want you to drop me."

Promise to His British War Bride In 1945 to Cost Ex-GI Another $3,000

CHICAGO (UP) — A promise he made to his British war bride in 1945 is about to cost Bernard Epton another $3,000.

Epton promised his wife, the former Audrey Issett, that each time they had a baby she could return to England to show the new arrival and the rest of their growing family to her parents.

Mrs. Epton, 29, and the four Epton children, were ready to embark by plane today for England.

"I haven't figured the total cost of all four trips," Epton said, "but it must be $10,000 or $11,000. This trip alone will cost $3,000."

Epton, a lawyer, said at the time he didn't regard his statement to his bride as a promise, but "just a rash statement."

"But now I'm stuck with it," he said.

The Eptons have a daughter, Terry, 9, sons Jeffrey, 7, and Mark, 5, and another daughter, Dale, 2.

Mrs. Epton returned home the first two times via the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth in 1948 and 1951. The third trip she made by plane in 1953, after Mark's birth.

She and the youngsters will spend four weeks visiting her parents.

Senate Nears Final Vote on Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate, nearing a final vote on President Eisenhower's $4,000,000,000 foreign aid money bill, rejected today a series of amendments that would have cut $126,600,000 from non-military items.

It then turned to a tough fight over a proposal by some Republican leaders to eliminate all military aid for Yugoslavia.

The House was busy too as Congress continued its cleanup drive.

The House adopted, 201-185, a bill to give Congress veto power over any move by the Pentagon to dispose of its coffee-roasting, paint and rope making plants and other commercial-type operations.

No similar bill is pending in the Senate and it seemed doubtful if the Senate would find time in the rush to adjourn to consider the House proposal.

Congressional leaders still were shooting for adjournment by Saturday night, but disputes over civil rights and atomic energy legislation could upset their plans.

Flee From West Frankfort

The search started yesterday morning when the two fled from West Frankfort. There they went into the Bank of West Frankfort to a safety deposit they had rented and reportedly they took $1,800 out of it.

Reports were that the two were under suspicion by the FBI after they first got the safety deposit box and bank officers had been told to notify the West Frankfort police when they came back to the bank.

Yesterday the police were notified, but the pair got away before the police could apprehend them, and headed toward Harrisburg.

State police headquarters put out a general message and Sgt. Herbert Bramlet of Equality saw the car approach and pass him just east of Galatia. Bramlet turned around and gave chase.

He said that he was about 300 yards behind them, gaining on them, when they quickly turned into the Garner driveway, going all the way to the barn. They jumped out, leaving the auto motor running, and ran into the barn, Bramlet stated.

In a matter of moments, he said, Sheriff Barrett and Deputy James Lyon in one car and State Police-man Art Athmer of Shawneetown in another drove into the driveway from the other direction.

Barrett and Athmer ran to the back of the barn to watch the exit and Bramlet and Lyon went into the building to search it.

Barrett looked around and saw two men running through a field to cover about 400 yards away. Barrett took out after them on foot and Athmer jumped into his auto and ran down a gravel road to the Illinois Central railroad track to cut them off if they crossed the tracks. Inside the car were a loaded .45 automatic clip, a suitcase and a bottle of brandy.

A short time later police cars from the area began arriving at the scene to help in the search, which continued in the general area until this morning.

Reports today were that Bolten is a native of Kentucky. Skirmont a native of Chicago. State police yesterday said both are ex-convicts. There also were reports today that Bolten had married a girl from Sesser.

Known as the "silk stocking bandits" because of the masks they wore, they were accused of holding up at least six taverns and were held on $10,000 bond on each charge, for a total of $60,000.

Reason that FBI officers joined in the hunt was because the two fled after being released on $80,000 bonds on armed robbery indictments in Chicago and that they were named in federal fugitive warrants.

The fugitives' car was moved to Benton.

Report Two Soldiers Attack German Wife Of U. S. Serviceman

MUNICH, Germany (UP) — U. S. military police today investigated a report that two American soldiers raped the 18-year-old German wife of a U. S. serviceman.

Mrs. Irmgard McCaha told German police she was assaulted Saturday while wading in the woods near suburban Schlessheim. She said she was carrying her two-week-old baby when she was accosted by two soldiers who attacked her.

German police reported the case to U. S. military authorities.

U. S. officials said the girl's husband has been transferred to the United States. They refused to give his full name and address.

A long series of incidents involving U. S. servicemen recently brought demands from German authorities for stricter control of troops.

Husband Drowns While Wife, Another Couple Laugh

PARIS, Tenn. (UP) — Cecil Victor Balthrop's wife and another couple explained today that they laughed while he drowned because he always "kidded a lot" and they thought he was "joking."

Balthrop, 21, of Clarksdale, Tenn., his wife, Evelyn, and the other couple were swimming at the Paris Landing State Park Sunday when Balthrop began crying for help, they said. By the time they realized his trouble was real, they said, it was too late to reach him. A rescue squad recovered the body later.

Witness Says He Was Slapped By Sergeant

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (UP) — Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon "slapped at me once or twice" and raised a bottle of vodka to his lips just before taking a recruit platoon on a march of death into a tidal creek, a former member of that outfit testified today.

The witness, testifying at McKeon's general court-martial, was Marine Pvt. David H. McPherson, 20, of Chatham, N. J. He said McKeon, junior drill instructor of the Marine recruit platoon, was irate because the outfit lacked spirit in training.

McKeon, 31, Worcester, Mass., is charged with manslaughter, oppression of troops, and drinking against regulations. Six recruits drowned about 8:45 p. m. last April 8 when McKeon led the platoon into Parris Islands Ribbon Creek to "teach them discipline."

When the prosecution finished and the defense took over on cross examination, McPherson followed the lead of other recent government witnesses — extolling the qualities of his drill instructor.

He said McKeon is an "excellent drill instructor—a man of great patience."

Gov't Reports Cost of Living Hits Record High

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government reported today that its cost-of-living index hit a record high in June.

A sharp rise in food prices paced the upswing in living costs.

The increase in the official index means wage increases for some 500,000 workers whose wage contracts are tied to the cost of living.

The Bureau of Labor statistics reported that the consumer price index, based on the 1947-1949 period, as 100 per cent, rose 8 of a point to 116.2 in June.

The previous high of 115.4 per cent was set originally in October, 1953, and had been equalled last May.

The June increase was the largest monthly spurt since January-February, 1951, when the index went up 1.2 per cent.

Rains in Eastern Third of Nation

By United Press

Extensive showers wet much of the eastern third of the nation Monday and early today while the remainder of the country enjoyed fair to partly cloudy skies.

The main belt of precipitation was in a narrow band from the mid-Mississippi Valley northeastward to the Ohio Valley and the lower Great Lakes region. There also were scattered showers and thunderstorms in the Southern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

There has been little temperature change throughout the nation.

Bonjean, Alexander Charge Stratton Also to Blame in Hodge Scandal

Roscoe Bonjean, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of the state of Illinois and James P. Alexander, Democratic candidate for clerk of the supreme court, were the principal speakers at a Democratic rally at Cave-in-Rock Friday evening.

Both speakers charged Governor William G. Stratton and the Republican administration, at least partially, for the scandal that has rocked the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge.

Said Bonjean "The scandals of the Republican Governors, Len Small and Dwight Green, are flourishing again in Illinois in the administration of Republican Governor William G. Stratton."

"Governor Stratton himself cannot escape responsibility with his teammate Hodge for the present scandal for he failed to perform his constitutional duty as Governor when he permitted Hodge to become over two years delinquent in filing his semi-annual report on expenditures of his office with the Governor," Bonjean declared.

Alexander, speaking along the same line, stated "Governor Stratton showed lack of executive ability when he signed into law a bill permitting the State Auditor exemption to the law limiting a state office to spending its appropriation in equally divided amounts. Appropriations for state offices are made for two years and the offices are limited to spending only one-fourth of the appropriation in each six month period . . . All state offices with the exception of now resigned State Auditor Orville Hodge's office are now operating under this limitation."

Approximately 500 Democrats from the 25th congressional district attended the rally at Cave-in-Rock, including several from Harrisburg.

Lagging Demand For Polio Shots

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service announced today that 17 states have turned back nearly 2½ million Salk polio shots because of lagging demand.

It was the biggest rejection of vaccine allotments in the history of the nationwide inoculation program. It signaled a serious slump in injections in a large part of the country.

Officials said they are doing everything they can to stimulate greater use of the vaccine where demand is lagging. They consider this particularly important with the nation heading toward the peak of the 1956 polio season.

The Health Service is shipping the vaccine turned back by the 17 states to other areas where the life-saving shots are in greater demand.

Thanks, Everybody!

I would like to take this opportunity to say thanks to everyone that helped to make the City-Wide Revival a big success. This was a 5-day summer revival, from July 17th to July 23rd, and was held in the Harrisburg City Hall. There was an average attendance of 500 people each night, and approximately 200 more remained outside the building each night and listened to the loudspeaker system. There were people from all denominations, from Kentucky, Indiana, and of course, Illinois. They came from as far north as East St. Louis and as far south as Cairo, making a total of approximately 3500 people, in a 5-day meeting, who heard the gospel preached and sung.

I want to personally thank Maynard Cannon for the fine way in which he conducted the singing and the special music each night, and Mrs. Bob Keltner, for the fine piano music she furnished each night.

Thanks to all the ushers and personal workers for their splendid efforts each evening.

Thanks again to all the churches that took part, and a special thanks to the Rev. J. D. McCarty, pastor of the McKinley Avenue Baptist Church and all the fine members for their cooperation.

The exact cost in dollars and cents was $68.00 for advertising and rent. There were three decisions for Christ and three rededications to serve the Lord. WHAT A SMALL PRICE TO PAY FOR SIX SOULS!

Here's hoping we can get together again soon for another city-wide revival. May your daily motto be this: "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Brooks Lawrence Wins His 14th Game; 'He's Our Lucky Guy', Reds' Manager Says

By United Press
Brooks Lawrence, the Cincinnati pitcher whose last name sounds like it should come first, was in a good spot to win 25 games today because his manager, Birdie Tebbetts, believes "last innings should come first."

Tebbetts has said repeatedly that nothing is more important in a ball game than the last few innings and that he intends to believe with his starters whenever he can win a ball game that way. Lawrence has benefitted from that stepped-up program by Tebbetts because in a little more than a month he has been called upon four times as a reliever between starting assignments. And on three of those occasions he has been the winning pitcher.

Monday night, Lawrence pitched two innings, giving up one hit and no runs, and was credited with his 14th victory against one defeat when Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh, 4-3.

Again Shows Luck

Again the big Negro right hander demonstrated that he is Cincinnati's lucky hurler.

"I don't know why it is but whenever Lawrence is involved we manage to get some hits and some runs," Tebbetts said. "He's our lucky guy."

Monday night with the score 3-2 in favor of Pittsburgh, Lawrence came in and pitched two scoreless innings in relief of Art Fowler. His "luck" came through again when he went out for a pinch-hitter in the eighth and in the same inning the Redlegs scored the winning run to move within 2 1-2 games of first place Milwaukee.

Bob Thurman, subbing for right fielder Wally Post, hit a homer to tie the score in the sixth then singled to touch off the winning Redleg rally in the eighth. A sacrifice by Ray Jablonski and a force out by Smokey Burgess, who was batting for Lawrence, put Thurman on third from which point he scored on Johnny Temple's third hit, a single.

Lawrence, whose percentage record is the best in baseball, is in a spot to set a new major league mark in that department. The best previous record for a season is 15-1 set by Johnny Allen with Cleveland in 1937 and the top National League mark is 16-2 by Fred Fitzsimmons of the Dodgers in 1940. Lawrence could top both if he avoids defeats as he has done to date.

In the only other game Monday, the Athletics defeated the White Sox, 3-2 at Chicago on the relief pitching of Tom Gorman, who worked 6 2-3 innings and gave up four hits. The Athletics put over two unearned runs in the second after Nellie Fox made a costly error, then scored the marginal run in the third on singles by Lou Skizas, Harry Simpson, and Vic Power.

There were no other games scheduled but five teams played exhibitions. Cleveland topped the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-1, on six-hit pitching by Hank Aguirre. Dusty Rhodes hit two homers and delivered four hits in an 11-10 New York Giant victory over Detroit in the annual Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N. Y. And rookie Bob Trowbridge pitched Milwaukee to a one-hit 3-0 victory over the International League all-star team at Toronto.

BASEBALL AT ITS BEST (?) will be on display at the VFW diamond Wednesday evening in a game featuring the Harrisburg Kiwanis vs. Harrisburg Rotary. Game time is 7:30 p. m. All proceeds will go to the Kiwanis ball park fund to support its baseball program for the youth of the city. Following a "training table" session Monday, the Rotary team members posed for a photograph—kneeling, left to right, Dr. L. I. Webb, "Pusher" Lynch, Pete Gardner, Lowden Pankey, Bill Stain; second row, left to right, Louie Beltz, Vic Mitchell, Tom Hauptmann, Trafion Dennis, Herman Barnett, Tom Davenport and G. C. Benson; back row, left to right, Bill Hopkins, John Foster and Bert Gaskins. The fun-loving public is urged to come out tomorrow night to the VFW park for a full evening of entertainment. Musial Makes Annual Shift to First Base in Spite of Trades by Lane

By STAN MOCKLER
United Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS — Last January, when the St. Louis Cardinals' prospects were considerably rosier, General Manager Frank Lane signed Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst to 1956 contracts with this comment:

"It just wouldn't be the Cardinals without Red flagging down grounders in the infield and Stan patrolling the outfield."

Schoendienst is still in the infield, but it is with the New York Giants, and Musial has made his annual switch to first base.

Unfortunately, however, Lane was wrong all the way. The Cards are still the Cards, almost a duplicate of the 1955 edition which limped to a seventh-place finish.

Monday, the Redbirds stood at 42-45 on the season. A year ago on that date they were 43-47, but after the same number of games they were at identical figures.

A lot of water and some 40 odd ball players have gone under the bridge since last season as Lane, who earned a reputation with the Chicago White Sox as a swapper, lived up to his clippings.

He dealt Brooks Lawrence and Sonny Senerchia to the Cincinnati Redlegs for Jackie Collum on Jan. 31. Lawrence, plagued by stomach ulcers during his sophomore year with the Cards, has been behaving more like his freshman self, sporting a 14-1 record to Collum's 4-1.

Murmurs From Fans

There were murmurs from the fans when Harvey Haddix, a left-hander of proven ability and high potential, went to Philadelphia for ancient Murry Dickson and Herm Wehmeier.

Dickson has helped the Cards as has Al Dark, obtained in the four-for-four swap that sent Schoendienst to the New York Giants.

Dickson has won seven and lost four for St. Louis and Dark, a man in whose hands a bat is a magic wand, has kept the team from dropping even further back than the 12 games by which it now trails Milwaukee.

But Haddix, 31 to Dickson's 41, has won seven and lost three for the Phils.

Counting Dickson and Dark as assets, the worst foul-up brought about by the numerous trades is in center field.

Bill Virdon, the 1955 rookie-of-the-year, was dealt to the Pittsburgh Pirates for Bobby Del Greco and Dick Littlefield. Del Greco, along with Whitey Lockman (obtained in the Schoendienst deal), are hitting about .220 and the Cards called up a raw recruit, Charlie Peete, from Omaha to help out.

Virdon, meanwhile, has hit a creditable .319 for the Pirates. Perhaps the most highly touted of the players to depart was outfielder Jackie Brandt, also a part of the Schoendienst trade.

Brandt, a youngster of only 21, wore a "sure to succeed" tag from the club's top brass and he has been boosting an anemic batting average since he left St. Louis.

The Cards, sixth at this time last year, are fourth now but second division is dangerously close.

Lane's vocal gifts are the only constant factor in the worsening fortunes of the club. When Lockman was obtained, it was "to free Wally Moon for outfield service and obtain a proven first baseman."

A day or two later, Musial was transferred to first.

The Cards' front office boss is as easy to hear as a tobacco auctioneer.

And he is just as difficult to understand.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Floyd Williams

One of Harrisburg's most enthusiastic baseball fans—and at present undoubtedly the happiest—is Floyd Williams, genial porter at the Colonial hotel.

Floyd is one of the original backers of the National league-leading Milwaukee Braves. When the National League franchise was moved from Boston to Milwaukee a few years back Floyd immediately adopted the Braves as his favorite.

He has just returned to Harrisburg from a vacation in Milwaukee and saw every game the Braves played while he was there. "Did you see every game?" I asked Floyd. "Sure," he replied, "that's why I went up there."

In addition to seeing his Braves win, Williams saw some unusual baseball. He saw Joe Adcock in the midst of his home run hitting surge—also saw the Adcock-Gomez incident.

That was the "unusualist" of all. After Gomez hit Adcock with a pitched ball, the two had words, then Gomez threw and again hit Adcock. Then Adcock chased Gomez out of the park and players from both Milwaukee and New York engaged in a sort of free-for-all.

Williams reports he made reservations for World Series time. He believes the Braves will go all the way this time.

University of Illinois football program covers for the 1956 season will continue the series of famed campus scenes in four color reproductions, Douglas R. Mills, director of athletics, has announced.

Nineteen previous issues, beginning in 1952, have met with overwhelming approval of Illini football fans. Mills has stated, and back numbers still are in demand by graduates who desire to frame the entire series.

This year's issues will show Smith Memorial Music hall, Electrical Engineering building, the new College of Law and Natural Resources building.

The Cardinals are wondering, says The Sporting News, if Alvin Dark's first-year charm will hold up for them. In his first year with the Braves, in 1948, the Braves won the pennant. Then in his first year with the Giants, in 1951, the Polo Grounders won the flag.

Former Pitcher Bobo Newsom was always known for his storytelling ability, and he's still telling them, says The Sporting News. Here's one he recently told listeners to his television show in Baltimore. He said that one day he drew down the wrath of Rogers Hornsby for getting beat, 20 to 2. "How can I win," he asked Hornsby, "unless you get some runs for me?"

Burke, Kroll In PGA Finals

CANTON, Mass. (U)—Curly-haired Jackie Burke and dead-panned Ted Kroll—two of the greatest putters in the game—met today for the PGA golf championship at Blue Hills Country Club.

Burke, winner of the Masters last year, was a slight favorite over Kroll, a 10-year veteran of the tournament trail who never has won a major title.

Burke figured he was "just plain lucky" to be in the finals for he came back from being 5 down after 14 holes to win out over Ed Furgo, the 1954 Open champion whose putting went sour, 1 up in an extra hole after they were all even at the end of the regulation 36-hole semi-final.

Selfish Thinking is Called for When Divorce Looms in Family

By Ruth Millett

THEY have had a good marriage, reared three children who are grown and on their own, struggled together for the success which the husband has now achieved.

Their life should be easy sailing. But the husband has informed his wife that he is in love with a girl in his office who is little more than half his age. He has asked his wife for a divorce so that he can marry the girl he thinks he can't live without.

Because she loves her husband and, through the years, has put his welfare and happiness ahead of her own, she feels there is nothing to do but to get a divorce and clear out of her husband's life.

Now is the time for this good wife to start thinking a bit more selfishly. Since her husband, obviously, is not concerned with what is to become of her if she gives him the divorce he thinks he wants, she had better start thinking about her own future.

THERE ARE MANY DIFFICULT PROBLEMS

WHERE will she live if she divorces her husband? It isn't likely that she will relish living in the same town with her former husband and his new wife. Is what her husband thinks he wants important enough to force her into becoming another displaced person?

Even though they are grown, how will the children feel about having their parents divorced?

Even grown children have a right to expect their parents to look after each other as long as they both live.

Does she have what it takes to make a new life alone and on her own or is there danger that she will crack up emotionally when the divorce is final?

It is only healthy self-interest for a woman to examine that possibility carefully. Can she find the courage to look her husband in the eye and say "no" to his demand for a divorce?

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Cadillac

No Reason to Wait Any Longer!

There's not much question about what this man and his young son have on their minds.

They're thinking about Cadillac—and about how wonderful it would be to have one in their own driveway!

And because dreams of a Cadillac are hard to put aside, we suspect that it won't be too long now before we'll have an opportunity to give them the facts about Cadillac ownership.

And when that time arrives, they'll find that we have some wonderful news for them about how practical Cadillac ownership has recently become. We will explain that it is now possible to become the happy owner of a 1956 Cadillac for little more than the cost of far lesser cars.

We will also tell them how economical a Cadillac is to operate—and how extraordinarily free it is from the ordinary requirements of service.

And we will show them how, at resale time, Cadillac returns a greater share of its owner's original investment than any other motor car.

But the best news will be yet to come. For then we will talk about the generous allowance we can give them on their present car—and how short the waiting period is on the Cadillac of their choice.

They will find, we feel certain, that they have lost their last logical reason for waiting any longer to enjoy a new Cadillac.

Incidentally, have you considered how wonderful a Cadillac would look in your driveway? If you have, then we sincerely urge you to come in soon and get the facts.

We'll be waiting for you with the car and the keys—and a story too wonderful to resist!
